

About Leave No Trace Blogs

Mission Statement

The Leave No Trace Center for Outdoor Ethics is an educational, nonprofit organization dedicated to the responsible enjoyment and active stewardship of the outdoors by all people, worldwide.

The goals of the Leave No Trace Community Blog and the Leave No Trace Traveling Trainer Blog are to further Leave No Trace's mission and to build community by encouraging dialogue about the program, outdoor ethics, educational techniques, volunteer opportunities, Leave No Trace events and more.

By talking openly about outdoor ethics, we can increase understanding about making good environmental choices when we're outside. By spreading the word about specific Leave No Trace events and training, we can increase awareness and build support for the Leave No Trace program at the local level. By sharing stories, we can inspire one another to bring Leave No Trace along with every experience in the natural world.

Comments

If you read a post on the Leave No Trace Community Blog or the Leave No Trace Traveling Trainer Blog, please leave a comment. Let us know what you think, even if it's just a few words. Simply click on "Comment" at the bottom of any post and follow the instructions to join the conversation. Note: Comments do not require approval, but they are moderated. Insightful, respectful comments that are diverse in opinion and belief are encouraged. If you are on the attack, challenge the opinion, not the person. Hateful, derogatory comments will be deleted. Please use your best judgment when commenting.
